○ It gives me the greatest honour to welcome you all to this year's vocational training programme. This is an activity undertaken by this College in partial fulfillment of its national mandate. Vocational training has been an integral part of our College programmes for the past seven years, which has made remarkable impact on the economic standing of the participants.

- More than three thousand (3000) participants have been trained in different aspects of agriculture since the commencement of this vocational training for the past seven years. It is not an understatement that the programme has significantly improved the livelihoods of many Nigerians, especially youths and retirees.

- Nigeria has not been able to compete favourably with other nations in the world's agricultural arena. This is mainly due to poor agricultural productivity and poor produce quality, poor storage facilities, poor usage of agricultural inputs and technologies and ultimately poor credit facilities to farmers. The rate of unemployment in the country is also alarming; it is a well-known fact that agriculture provides the greatest potentials for employment. This sector has been found to provide about 60 – 65 percent employment and contributes about 40 – 45 percent of the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in Nigeria.

- The vision and unflinching efforts of the present administration in the country towards the restoration of lost glory in agriculture through the Agricultural development initiative of the Federal Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development, which is aimed at creating jobs, wealth and providing food security for the people.

- Vocational training is intended to equip participants with skills and knowledge of modern agriculture in order to improve their productivity. It also imparts skills and competencies that can help the unemployed, the retired and other interested individuals to function productively, become self-reliant, create wealth and overcome the unemployment syndrome. It is the bedrock of development for any nation.

- Vocational training in agriculture is one of the mandates of this College to ensure job creation and food sufficiency in the country. For the next one week, our team of highly qualified and experienced lecturers and technologists shall be taking the participants through both practical and theoretical sessions in six key fields of agriculture viz:

- Poultry production
- Cat Fish Production
- Use and Maintenance of Agricultural Machinery
- Modern beekeeping and Honey Production
- Cassava Processing and Utilization
- Local and Exotic Vegetable Production
